

Streamline your mortgage reverification responses in one secure place

Mortgage reverification requests are sent by quality control audit firms and lenders. These requests typically ask to reverify checking and savings accounts as of a previous date. Responding to these requests by fax, mail, or email is a time-consuming and unorganized process.

Thomson Reuters® Confirmation provides a secure, cloud-based solution that standardizes requests, allowing you to respond to more requests in less time. Access all your records from a single, centralized location — all while complying with regulatory requirements.
